Homeowners, as the temperature gets colder, some of you are finding that the old boiler or furnace is no longer working. Some of you are probably replacing older inefficient systems for higher efficiency units to try and save some money this winter. The City of Nashua's Building Safety Department would like to take this time to remind you that the replacement of boilers, furnaces, and water heaters require a permit and inspection from the City. The contractor who is doing the job for you is aware of this, and you should be wary of any contractor that tells you permits are not required. In some cases, due to circumstances out of your control, the installation of the original equipment may no longer be safe. Simply replacing this equipment without further work may leave your family at risk. Most permits for direct replacement of this equipment is $58.00, which is cheap insurance to have another set of eyes verify that this equipment is installed properly. We are here Monday through Friday from 8:00am until 5:00pm to answer any questions you may have. Thank you, and have a safe fall and winter season.
